

WARNING: NEVER ADMIT YOU ARE AN AUTOGRAPH HUNTER!

Natasha Treble, TV Presenter

Natasha presents the popular children's show BUT WHY.

She likes signing autographs, but only for fans - and her fans are children! If you look over 14 you might need to be tricky.

On the show, when any adult says anything, you hear a chorus of children yell "BUT WHY?" then Natasha explains. This can repeat several times.

Natasha hosts the show with a puppet, Poppy the Giraffe.

She is often spotted around town with a butterfly net.

Alice Williams, Inventor

Alice is a prolific inventor. She sells her inventions online.

She loves her fans, who buy her inventions and use them every day. (But she hates collectors who buy her products but don't actually use them.)

Convince her that you own and use her inventions and you'll get the signature!

Alice takes her favourite mug everywhere.

Laura Davis, Activist

Laura is an environmental activist who stages massive protests around NZ and the world. Recently she chained Auckland mayor Len Brown to a row of pohutukawa trees.

Laura's true fans are serious about the environment so that's how you will get her approval.

Laura usually has a shovel, wire-cutters or other vandalism tools.

Hayley Wilson, Sailor

Hayley's famous for sailing around the world without stopping. Her team won the Xero Ocean Challenge 10 years in a row. However she says she no longer signs autographs for fans.

My spies say she's been trying to set up meetings with several NZ writers (including Eleanor Catton) and publishing companies. If you can find out what she wants, it might be the key to getting her signature.

She'll probably be reading a book somewhere in the park.
